What is covered in a 1:1 Researcher Consultation?

Although we cover some standard topics, sessions are completely tailored to your needs. We first learn about your research interests and listen to your upcoming plans. Here is a sampling of the topics we cover:

- Overview of electronic resources
- The specific people who help support you
- Offices, processes, and resources you will need or encounter
- Training: what’s required, plus other relevant opportunities
- Funding sources
- Publications and your faculty profile
- Writing resources
- Data storage, management, and computing
- Finding collaborators
- Staying informed: newsletters, seminars, events
- Getting around
- Anything else you’d like to discuss to make research easier for you
